

My Turn

Plans for Taos

The March 3 Couse Pasture forum showed the frustration our community feels about the way our governments in Taos are catering to the big corporate plan that obviously is occurring behind closed doors despite strong community protest.

We have been ignored on major issues that will allow big corporate interests to exploit our beautiful valley and culture.

This corporate outcome can be seen in Santa Fe and Sedona, Arizona. Environments dominated by DOT, USFS and many other corporations.

The people of Taos and Taos Pueblo don't want the new airport and we don't want the slick corporate model invading into the middle of our historic town. Maybe this isn't our government and is it possible our land doesn't belong to us? There are some strange things that are escaping our notice about how government works.

Our governments are private corporations and we need to investigate what is going on.

Looking into this will also reveal where funds could soon become available to buy Couse farmland to be used for growing food and so preserving the beauty and character of our community that has been self-sufficient agriculture for many centuries.

There is a plan to return the stolen wealth of the people and break the grip of corporations.

It surely is not possible to understand what this is about by watching television and other corporate media that is fake by design. Here are some sources that will reveal what is actually happening.

It's not a simple picture but it's very interesting and pertinent to what is happening in Taos.

The wisdom to guide the future of our community is with people as our public forums show but we need to learn how to retrieve what belongs to us. This needs more than one or two people to decipher. Please help investigate the following.

On YouTube search "Corporation Nation 2010 by Clint Richardson." Find the original full version. Clint's mentor is Walter Burien where you can go deeper.

Google for Anna Von Reitz's website and try YouTube.

Google Benjamin Fulford each week for an inside view about the international struggle to break the grip of the banking families and their corporations.

Go to divinecosmos.com. Searching back into this website will reveal a secret world of finance that is the most classified info on earth.

I discovered these sources while researching what happened when my dad's grandfather and his brothers were targeted by an infamous European banking family in the 1930s.
